PACE OF '68

"Time flies over us, but leaves its shadow behind."

Hawthorne

East Aurora High School, East Aurora, New York

Whether it's "stewing" over a lost soccer game or grappling for that necessary point,
Whether it's grabbing mercilessly for your hot dog or pensively pondering at the "libe,"
Whether it's anxiously waiting for your bus at dismissal or fulfilling your artist desires
Whether it's been fast or slow, frantic or enjoyable,
E.A. has managed to keep that "Pace of '68"
Wearing it proudly in Activities, Sports, and Scholastics . . .

The Auroran staff has attempted to capture this PACE, because we feel that the PACE of an E.A. student does much to shape him into a responsible and competent individual ready to face life head on. So it is with pleasure that the Auroran staff presents THE PACE OF '68.

ALMA MATER, EAST AURORA,
WE'LL ALWAYS LOVE THY NAME.
THOUGH FLEETING YEARS MAY COME AND GO,
WE WILL ALWAYS SING THY FAME.

WE'LL NE'ER FORGET OUR HIGH SCHOOL DAYS,
OUR FRIENDSHIPS FIRM AND TRUE.
AURORA LOVED BY EVERY HEART,
WE PLEDGE OURSELVES TO YOU.

68's Man

of the Year

It is a teacher's purpose to relate the facts and to create new horizons; he is an instrument by which vast and valuable knowledge passes to his students—knowledge that puts us one step higher to our aspired goals.

However, there comes a time when a teacher becomes more than a teacher; he becomes a friend also—a friend who shares our anxieties, joys, disappointments and successes; a friend who throughout our high school years has become a true companion.

So it is with our deepest gratitude that we dedicate the 1968 AURORAN to Mr. David W. Daniels.

"Are you sure it's in here?"

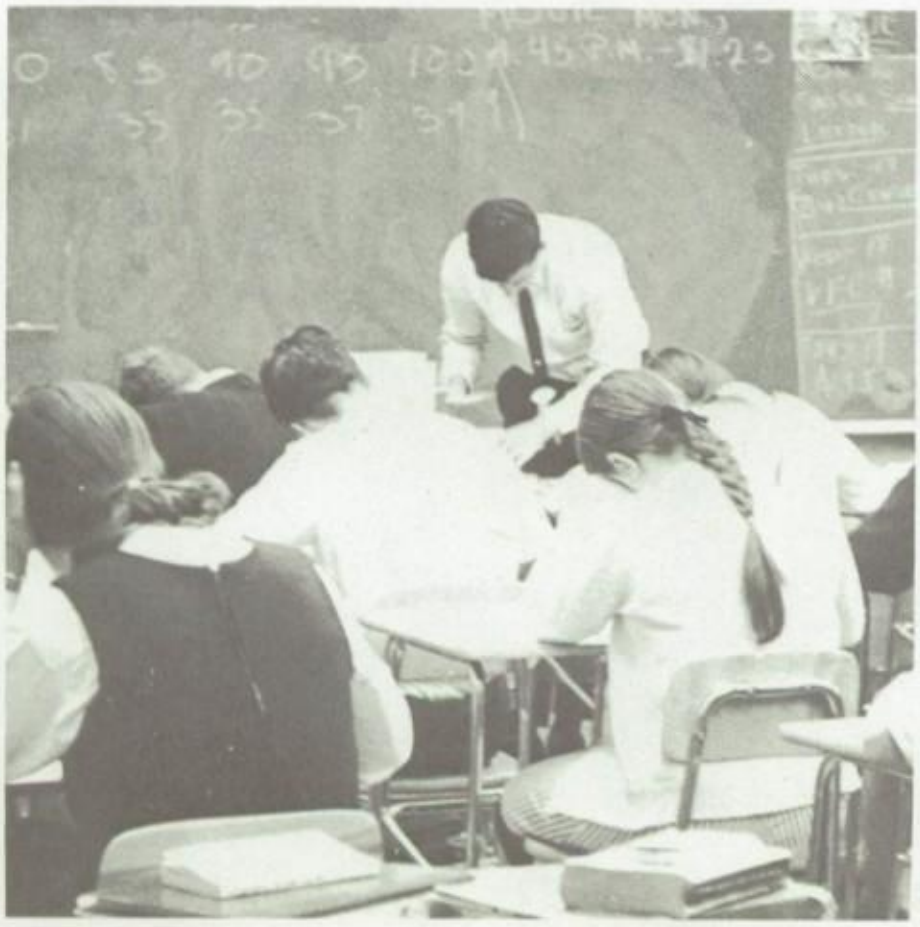
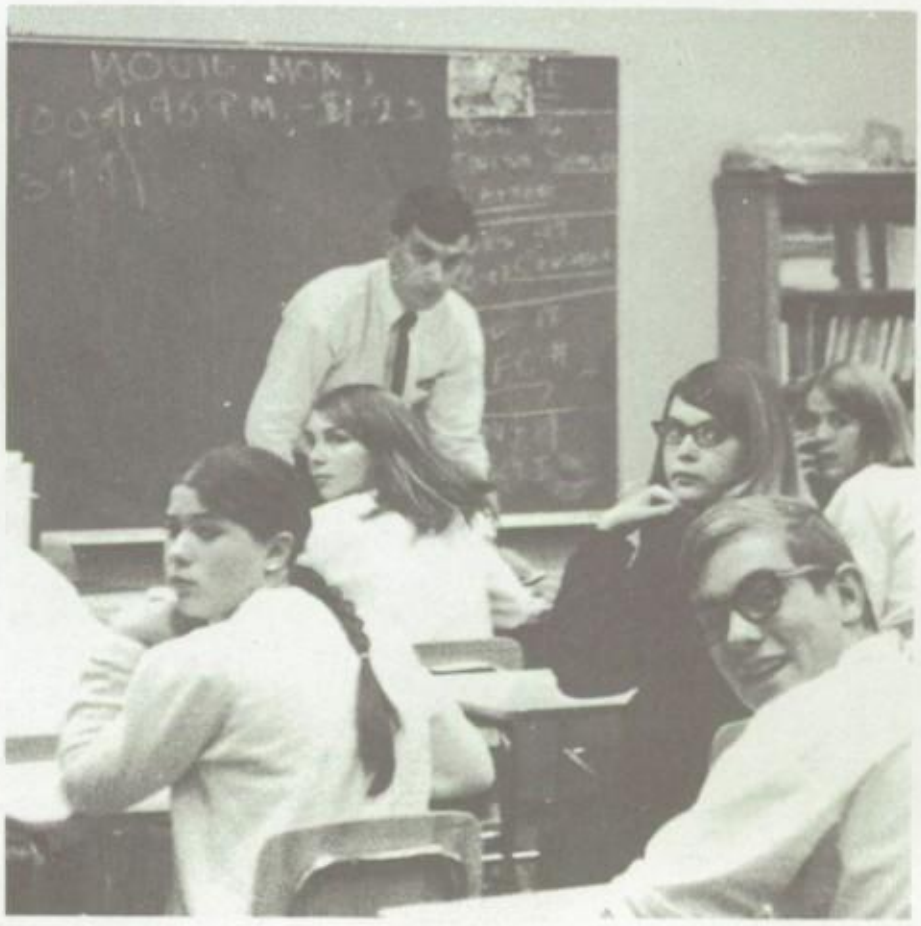
"That's better."

"Heads up! . . ."





Those Behind the Scenes

Row 1: Mr. Debbink, Mrs. Bull, Mr. Birkland. Row 2: Mr. Oubre, Mr. Nicely, Mr. Hill, Mr. Heussler, Mr. Ewell, Mr. Spooner.

It is a pleasure to extend my personal congratulations and best wishes to those members of the Senior class who have successfully kept the "Pace of '68." The pace has been rapid and hopefully filled with challenge. Your future pace is, at present, somewhat uncertain and unchartered. May I suggest the words of Thoreau as a possible guide line: "If a man does not keep pace with his companions; perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music which he hears, however measured or far away."

Robert Hatch
Senior High Assistant Principal

The increasing pace of change is perhaps the single greatest characteristic reflecting the age in which we live. To the self-confident individual, change can be a stimulating challenge just as the unknown frontier was to a bygone generation. To the timid and insecure person, change can bring the inevitable sense of frustration, defeat, and helplessness.

What is it then that helps one individual to live with change to accept and modify changes for the betterment of self and mankind, while another retreats from or lives in general resignation of a changing world?

I believe first of all the answer is to be found in the quality of your own self acceptance—your inner resolve to work to the best of your ability in the tasks you undertake. Secondly, it will be the strength of your commitment to tasks which are "other" directed rather than "self" directed.

To each of you, the members of the class of 1968, I extend best wishes for success in the years ahead.

H.J. Bowman
Ass't. Supt. for Instruction

My most sincere congratulations to the class of 1968. It has been a pleasure to work with you during the past few short years. Your progress, as individuals, has been steady, progressive, and productive. A continuation of this pace will enable you to adjust most satisfactorily to the future.

I wish you success and happiness.

Donald J. Lawson
Senior High Principal

"The Pace of '68" brings to my mind the hectic pace of our society in the past decade, and from all indications points toward an even more hectic pace for the future. Too often we go so fast that we haven't had time to fully appreciate where we have been. May I wish for the Class of '68 the gift of serendipity—that is the rare ability to find treasures along the way in life and not necessarily at the end of the trail.

Jack B. Ables
Junior High Principal

"The Pace of '68"—The theme of your yearbook captures well the pulse of today's youth. Your generation wants to be "where the action is." That's great! You have the right to expect an education that will allow you to learn, explore, and appraise. Now turn all you have received from E.A.H.S. into "action" that will make the world better because YOU are there! Act!

T. A. Callisto
Junior High Administrative Assistant

Pace may be defined as a rate of tempo and timing ... it is also defined as to move with measured steps.

Tempo, timing, and measured steps ...

As you, the members of the Class of '68 prepare to move out in what seems a merry-go-round world whose pace is dizzily rapid, it would be wise to remember that Life's races don't always go to the swiftest. Move out with measured steps. You will soon fall into the proper tempo.

Measure now your pace in '68 and your timing in Life should be better when you climb aboard this merry-go-round world. Good luck.

W. T. Crocoll
Superintendent of Schools

To the Class of '68 I offer my congratulations. You, as a class, have lived through some turbulent years in social unrest. You don't seem to have suffered too much from this. May I urge you to continue to cultivate those qualities which make for a happy citizenry. There is an old cliche which says, "It is not the load that breaks you down, it is the way it is carried." This is as true today as it ever was. Good luck and best wishes for a happy and productive life.

H. Lewis McNeil
Administrative Assistant to the Superintendent

Perhaps as one regards these pictures, one will not recall with fondest thoughts, one's trips to the friendly Attendance office. It has the dubious honor of those who work in this office to take account for the 1500 students who are late or absent.

Then, proceeding on past the Attendance offices, one reaches the Business office. These offices include all those industrious people who do the paper work for the school. If it were not for their efforts, all sorts of business, such as green slips, report cards and official transcripts would not be completed for the student body. In addition, the Administrative office handles the bookkeeping and payroll work including annual, state, and federal reports. It also takes care of the regular office tasks such as reception work, duplicating work and clerical tasks.

Unlocking the Door to the Future.

Always busy, and sometimes approaching the state of chaos, the guidance department is one of the most active areas in the school. Here schedules are made ... and changed ... and rechanged, course selections are made, college catalogues are studied, decisions for the future are made (a job ... college ... the service?), and problems of all sorts are ironed out. In the Junior High Office, the counselors are Mrs. Hurd and Mr. Gallup, and in the Senior High they are Mrs. Austin, Mr. Garrison, and a newcomer this year, Mr. Nojaim.

The student body is greatly indebted to our fine guidance counselors, who have worked so hard to head us in the right direction.

Mrs. Austin, Mr. Garrison, Mr. Nojaim.

Mrs. Hurd, Mr. Gallup.

Linda's case is reviewed.

The doors are always open—well, sometimes.

Tenses Come Easily to Enlightened Students

If Shakespeare visited E. A. today, he would find himself right at home in E.A.'s English Department. E.A.'s students are taught fluency of expression in beginning and advanced composition, and also are familiarized with the works of the great literary geniuses of all times in American Literature, English Literature, World Literature, and novel. Another of E.A.'s exciting courses is mass media, which is a study of current sources of communication. If any of E.A.'s students are aspiring actors, they may take drama and speech. E.A.'s English Department has succeeded in giving our students the best possible tools for communication in today's world.

The Mathematics Department of our high school offers a wide variety of courses for everyone's needs and desires. Students with avid interest who find excitement and challenge in math, may take accelerated math courses through math 10,11,12, and even calculus.

Others who feel these courses unsuited to their needs can pursue the business and practical math courses. Our math department is proud to be able to offer East Aurora students such varied and challenging courses.

Questioning Minds Seek New Horizons

Confronted each fall by a room full of blank faces, our science teachers are faced with the difficult task of turning on the light. For the new teachers this year, as well as those who have been at East Aurora for several years, this is a challenging problem. It takes demonstration, lab experiments, movies, displays, lots of work, and a bit of luck to make the incomprehensible understandable. Our science teachers seem to be well supplied with all these things, for they are succeeding with this problem. The extensive curriculum enables young E.A. scientists to expand their scientific thought into the fields of biology, earth science, physics, and chemistry. Perhaps there will be future scientists who will remember East Aurora as the place where the light first dawned.

Our history teachers present the problems and people behind events, and we then apply them to the results of today's problems. The traditional history courses such as American and World history emphasize historical concepts and theories more than facts and figures. In addition, there is strong emphasis on current events, especially in elective courses such as Contemporary World Affairs, economics, and Asiatic history. Indeed history is not a thing of the past at E.A.H.S., but rather it is brought to life in each history classroom.*

Then a student is ready to combine the odd words into sentences, and carry on conversations or form paragraphs. However, it must not be forgotten that the main reason E.A. students succeed is their language teachers. The teachers have their students reading the fascinating literature that makes learning the language well worth the effort.*

Gaining Industrial and Artistic Skills

The Industrial Arts department or "shop" as it is familiarly called consists of four inter-departments: carpentry, auto mechanics, electronics, and metal shop. It offers boys the opportunity to learn to work with a variety of materials and to make and repair a variety of objects. Such practical knowledge can be of use to them later in the home or when they hold a job. All boys are required to take some shop courses in the 7th and 8th grades. Many continue in the upper grades and some pursue it throughout their high school careers. Courses in industrial arts are very beneficial for future electricians, carpenters, metal workers, and auto mechanics.

East Aurora's students certainly must be among the most physically fit students to be found anywhere. With such a wide variety of sports to choose from, there isn't any excuse not to be in top physical condition. These sports are not only taught in class, but many are also given as after-school intramurals at some time during the year. Among the sports taught in E.A.'s physical education classes are soccer, baseball, basketball, field hockey, swimming, and gymnastics. "All right, twice around the gym and showers! Let's move it!"

Numerous Art Courses Uncover Hidden Talents

Upon entering the art rooms of E.A., one feels as if he has been transferred to a miniature art museum, for on display are sculpture, drawings, paintings, and even jewelry. Students find that this department offers subjects for everyone's interest. Among them are Drawing and Painting, Sculpture, Photography and Creative Crafts.

One often says he has no artistic talent. All that need be done is to take an art course at E.A. to uncover the latent talent and expose the students' creativity. Who knows what potential one has ... Why not take an art course and see!

As seniors, these students emerge as efficient, well-trained business majors ready to enter the world of business.

Students from this department also find that their training comes in handy in everyday situations, such as writing out checks, keeping a budget, or typing papers for classes.

The E.A. Business Department can be hailed for the great job it does.

A commanding performance by the maestro.

E.A. is Alive with the Sound of Music

The music department of E.A.H.S. includes many students from all grade levels. Under the fine leadership of Mr. Gange, Mr. Sollinger, Mr. Minkler, and Mr. Hasselback, many modes of music were presented to students, faculty, and public at numerous concerts this year. Whether inciting pep, inspiring school spirit, or just providing musical entertainment, participants gained experience and enjoyment while increasing their skills. Competition, both vocal and instrumental, are encouraged by our music instructors. Besides the vocal and instrumental instruction several music theory courses were offered for the music major or the music lover, or students who were just plain curious about what the little black notes on a certain staff mean.

E.A.'s Co-op School Forges Ahead

This marks the second year of our highly successful vocational school. This program was set up to prepare high school students for jobs in the fields of auto mechanics or cosmetology without further training.

In auto mechanics, the boys attend a chassis shop under the leadership of Mr. Soper for the first semester. The second semester they participate in an engine shop under the competent direction of Mr. Pettis.

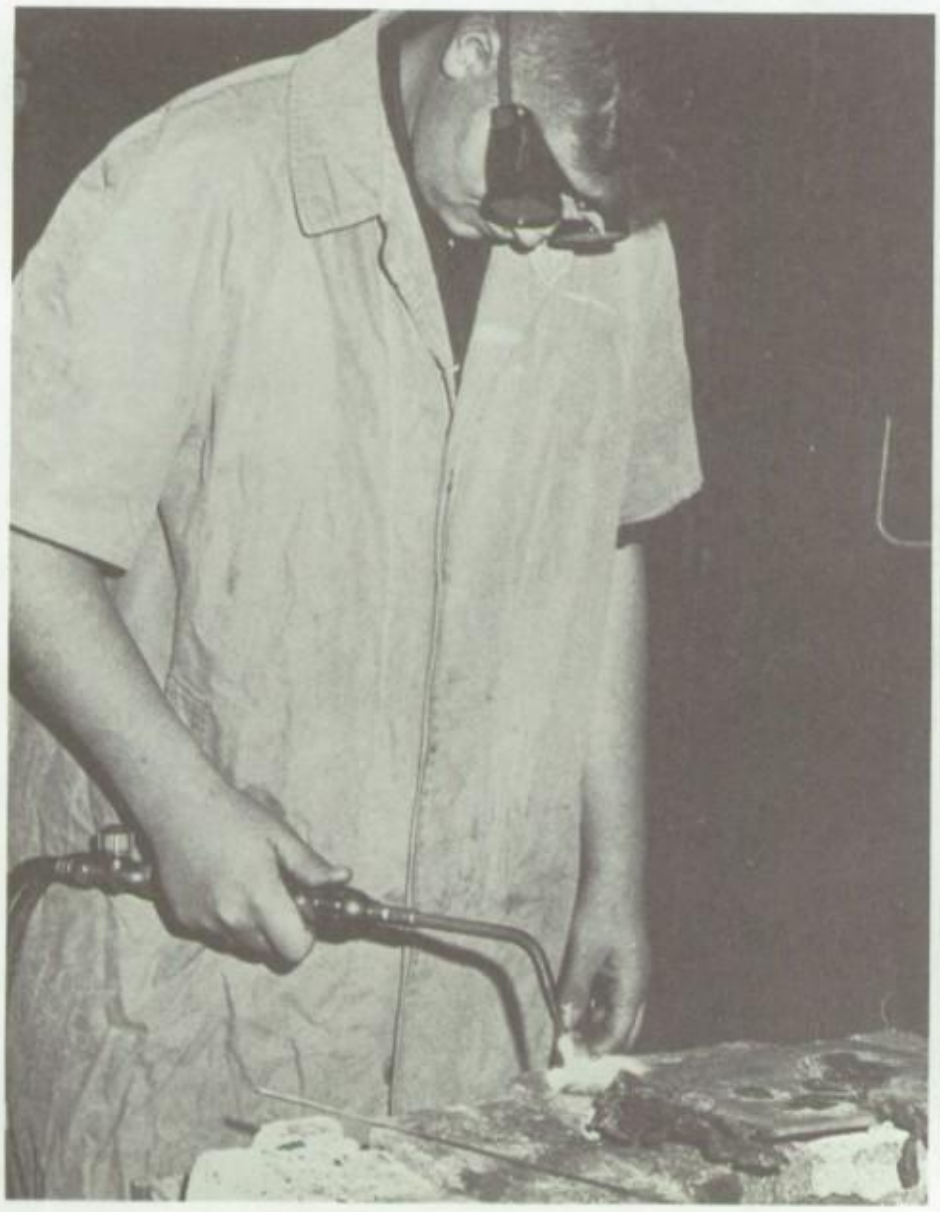
The cosmetology department is run by the capable Mrs. Hammer. The juniors learn, among other things, the art of cutting and setting hair. They practice on manikins and twice a week on each other. The real test comes when the girls practice on real customers.

The seniors in both fields attend the co-operative center in the morning, and they return to school where they take required academic subjects in the afternoon.

And to think, I only wanted a manicure!

Mrs. Hammer tells the girls, "It's all in the waving."

And the heat goes on . . .



Heh! Somebody took my engine!

Clorox needed here.

A study in concentration.

Humanities Widens Seniors' Horizons

Humanities is a relatively new course offered to Seniors. It is headed by Mr. Birdsall, Mr. O'Leary, and Mr. Callisto, all of whom try to guide the discussions in a straight line. The students have discussed everything from philosophy to ethics, and many guest speakers have helped the students to discover the humanities. During the year, the Humanities class took many inspiring field trips, such as one to the Studio Arena Theatre to see "The Three-Penny Opera." In addition, the class delved into Society's Judeo-Christian background, and the students became more aware of this by visiting Temple Beth Zion in Buffalo.

Truly, Humanities, as a non-credit course, has stretched the thoughts of many, has broadened the horizons of many, and has indeed been one of the most interesting, if not exciting courses that E.A. has to offer.

Mr. O'Leary and Mr. Birdsall.

Fighting the Cold War

"Gee, Mrs. DuMoulin, it feels a lot better today."

One of the many school departments concerned with education, although in an indirect way, is the Health Department. The job of this department is to make sure that both the faculty and students are at their physical best for teaching and learning. Every year each student is given a physical exam, a vision exam, and a hearing test. In addition, candidates for the athletic teams are carefully examined before they are allowed to participate in sports. Students interested in health careers devote much of their time helping the nurses in the health office, thereby getting better acquainted with the kind of work that is awaiting them in the future.

"No, Mrs. Irving, it doesn't hurt a bit."

Education Through Sight and Sound

The Audio-Visual department, commonly known as the A.V.E., is concerned primarily with presenting educational movies to the student body. These filmstrips are used to stimulate additional interest, and to present the same topic discussed in class in a different manner. Mr. Burdick and the A.V.E. club, which consists of high school students who assist him, handle over 1,000 films every year in performing their invaluable service to the school. We can be truly grateful for the time and effort of the A.V.E. Department, for their endeavors have certainly made academic courses more interesting.

Sounds of Silence

An essential section of any school is its library, and ours is certainly one to be proud of. Not only books for reading enjoyment, but also a variety of magazines and newspapers, old and new, are to be found in the recesses of the library. All types of research papers may be done with the materials available here. The library of E.A.H.S. is equipped with some of the finest and most resourceful reference books to be found. Since our school does have such a well-stocked library as this, it's no wonder that it is a busy place.

Lunches Provide Daily Surprise at E.A.

Mrs. Ayer, Mrs. Nuwer, Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Webster, Mrs. Hall.

Every day at 7:30 AM, the members of the E.A. High cafeteria staff begin their daily routine of preparing 900 full lunches and 400 part lunches. Mrs. Baker, who has six years of training in nutrition, is head of the experienced staff. She must prepare the menu and do all the bidding for the food. The staff is made up of seven full-time cooks and four part-time cooks. Each member of the staff must work first as a substitute, then part-time, and finally a full-time cook. E.A. students should be grateful for the fine, devoted staff we have.

There are about five full-time members of the maintenance crew who keep the school in shining order, prevent breakdowns in the heating or bell systems, and set up chairs for the numerous assemblies. Throughout the school year, Mr. Fred Kruse, who's head custodian, is responsible for the tremendous effort expended by his staff in attempting to keep ahead of the artistic and general mess created by the students. Mr. Kruse and his crew deserve three cheers and a clean school for their fine efforts.

'68 Steps Up Pace in Senior Year

This year's Senior Executive Board, presided over by Ken Ames, has the drive and determination that has made the Class of '68 great. Ken is assisted by Ceci Laidman, who has spent much of her Senior year searching for a class gift. Carol Blackman and Wendy Whiteman, treasurer and secretary, have collaborated to preserve the records of the class for posterity. The Senior Executive Board is also in charge of the Senior Banquet and Graduation. The remainder of this fantastic board is composed of Doug Bartlett, Gary Bove, Dodie Dodson, Pete Doran, and Paul Nicely.

Through the year, the Executive Board carried the Class of '68 to fame. In the fall, they served refreshments at the home football games, sponsored a magazine sale, and started Homecoming Weekend off smashingly with a car smash and Hootenanny. In the winter, there was a swinging Christmas party. The successful Sweetheart Swing in February provided a haven for the young lovers of E.A.H.S.

The Class of '68 fully appreciates its Executive Board and thanks Mr. Daniels and Mr. Martina for their unselfish devotion as our advisors. It is hoped that the class will be able to assume the challenge of the world in the fine tradition of East Aurora High School.

Four Continents Join Hands

I don't know how to say my gratitude to all of you, all I can say is "thank you" very much. One year is really a short time to know each other very well, but in my case, it has really been a wonderful year. It taught me more about understanding and friendship that let me feel we are brothers in God's arms, and as a matter of fact we are brothers. Lastly, I would like to say that all of you are welcome in my country and hope that we can meet each other sometime. Good luck to you.

Sangat terharu hatinku, karena mendapat kesempatan unktuk mengungkapkan perasaanku. Jang dapat aku utjapkau hanjalah "terima kasih"-ku untukmu semua teristimewa untuk kebalikanmu kepadaku. Tuhan bersama kita!

What I'm trying to say is all contained in a little word, a universal word-"Dankie" for the Afrikaner; "Ke a Thankisa," the Basotho; "Merci!" French I (E.A.). For days that I'll never forget; your warm welcome; the friendship and help of all the faculty; your exciting hospitality; a small American word "Hi" and the colours of the autumn and the snow, . . . I most sincerely thank-you.

One year can be so long and yet so short; but it's been a great time. It was my understanding "borrowed" parents and brothers, other students who soon became good friends, and the kind, helpful people of East Aurora who made me really feel at home here. How can I thank you for having been that warmly accepted? Perhaps by always remembering this fabulous year, by carrying a good impression of the U.S.A. back to Europe, by being grateful, and by smiling. And if any of you should come to Rendsburg, Muhlenauss, Germany. You'll be just as gladly accepted; just say:

Guten Tag, Ich komme aus East Aurora!

And the door won't be slapped in your face (even if you try to sell magazines!)

I want to thank all of the people who made it possible for my wonderful and unforgettable summer in Brazil. Just the two little words "thank you" are not sufficient to express my gratitude for the opportunity of having represented our school as an A.F.S. student.

While visiting many cities and staying with different families, I made many long-lasting friends. Friends in Brazil are easily made, because the Brazilians are warm, amiable and outgoing people. Through my experience as an A.F.S. student, I have developed an understanding and respect for the Brazilian people. The A.F.S. program is truly a gateway to understanding and friendship between individuals of different cultures and ways of life.

Eu tenho muitos saudades de Brazil, minhas familias e meus amigos. Eu quero voltar logo.

The Great Pumpkin Finally Rises

The Great Pumpkin rides again.

Perhaps one of the most fun-filled weekends of the year, Homecoming '67 featured a full schedule of events, which included on Friday night a bonfire, a car smash and a hootenanny sponsored by the Senior Class. On Saturday, there was the traditional Homecoming parade, football game, and crowning of Homecoming Queen, Cindy Arnholt, followed by a semi-formal dance, at which the "Counterpoints" played.

This year as special guests, the Student Council sponsored the Havelock Bagpipers of Canada. The "Pipers" played during half time and also presented a concert on Saturday night that was open to the public.

The Homecoming float (a six foot pumpkin) exemplified the theme, "The Weekend of the Great Pumpkin." Many hours of hard work went into creating the "perfect pumpkin." Many thanks should be given to Nora Peterson, Float Chairman, Bob Sugnet, Queen Chairman, Mary O'Donnell, Ticket Chairman, Debbie McCormick, Decoration Chairman, Candy Persons, Refreshment and Publicity Chairman, and General Chairman, Christie Manchester, whose tremendous efforts "behind the scenes" made Homecoming '67 a great success.

This year, some members of the faculty decided that the traditional format of the Variety Show should be changed. The idea developed was Club Variety. In carrying out the idea, the west gym was converted for the evening into a nightclub with two shows and two intermissions during which refreshments were served. Music was furnished during intermissions by a trio of our school's musicians. The show itself, directed by Miss Harp, was called "Because of the Wonderful Things He Does." It was centered around the theme that Dorothy was allowed to return to Kansas from the Land of Oz if she took with her three groups from the Oz dungeons. Each of the various groups, which ranged from Austrians to hillbillies, performed for the judges.

A Blues Trio, comprised of Mike Birch, Rick Howitt, and Paul Hoffman captured first place. An interpretive dance by Lorie Amwake received second place, and a guitar duo of Rick Morrow and Tomo, which was named "Tomorrow," won third place. The cast and the audience joined in singing "There's No Business Like Show Business," and another successful Variety Show ended.

The Blues Band received first.

Jr. Prom swings to the Tunes of the Gay '90's

Sue Baker, Terry Riggin—queen, Dave Assad—king, and Bill Good.

The Gay '90's provided a theme for the Junior Prom of 1967. Kris Martin and her decoration committee transformed the East Aurora Fire Hall into an ice cream parlor and garden scene. Flags draped the band stand, benches and trees adorned the garden, and a half wall with pink and white striped shades separated the ice cream parlor. The evening was highlighted by the crowning of Dave Assad and Terry Riggin as king and queen.

Teddy Bear's Day

The Junior Play presented by the Class of 1968 and directed by Miss Harp, was staged 'in the round' in room 210. The Curious Savage is set in a home, the Cloister, in which those who are slightly unusual are under the protection of a doctor and a nurse, played by Dave Debbink and Sylvia Berggren. The lead character of Mrs. Savage, played by Jen Pallin, was that of an eccentric woman who used the money left to her by her husband to fulfill her childhood whims. Mrs. Savage's three step children, played by Nan Bell, Trip Heist, and Paul Trautman, wished to put the funds to "better" use for their own benefit and thus sent their step-mother to the Cloister. At her new home Mrs. Savage, always clutching her teddy bear, comes to enjoy the other members of the Cloister's family, played by Terry Riggin, Bill Bean, Larry Stains, Phyllis Sadler, and Rita Collins. Eventually the mistakes of Mrs. Savage's children are realized and Mrs. Savage leaves the Cloister. The Curious Savage was enjoyed by all who attended and proved a great success.

Dogpatch Comes Alive as the West Gym is Transformed

The Sadie Hawkins dance, sponsored by the Junior class, was enjoyed by all who attended. The decorations included a corral of live animals, a general store (refreshments), jewelry shop (wedding rings) and the traditional white chapel where Marryin' Sam (Fred Marconi) enjoyed his most successful evening of the year. The high point of the night was reached when Karen Donner and Judd Mosser were proclaimed Daisy Mae and Lil' Abner of 1967.

Trust Equals Respect

The comments were mixed as a new paper appeared on the school scene entitled, SPES. One of the articles concerned an honor system. Should this be employed in our school?

The article opened with the universal complaints of ma "policing" of students and lack of senior privileges. H students should observe the situation with a little perspec ing will always be needed. That is when the administrati do. A proper atmosphere for learning must be created. An breaking them for [illegible] senior privileges may be a reflection upon the students did you realize that a [illegible] their privileges? These privileges are not just handed ou [illegible] one. Oh, but there are those characters. Figure the ad deal with them. Some should find that a quick cure. A le [illegible]

To enlarge upon this idea, an independent study system perhaps it will. Presently, there are students of pability that could benefit from independent study. We ha room. Could we experiment? Keeping close watch on th do by possibly verbal progress reports and evidence to them, a teacher could benefit the students and himself. T are well aware of the problems concerning a plurality o the classroom. Teaching is difficult to be sure. With so engaged in independent study this would alleviate the probl gree. To a student, his boredom or desire to go into a depth in a subject area may be cured. This will reflec dent's attitude toward the subject and the increased knowl gain. The student, of course, must be held responsible fo on in the class. Evidence of any breakdown in the system the teacher to bring the student back to class. Students sho serve their responsibility to do the required work as any threats concerning loss of their privileges. When a another to be quiet and study the privilege will be insured. This takes a little "guts" and determination.

The students and administration must work together on this problem. Administration, let the students try it for once. Students, become the people you should be. If the privileges get taken away later, no griping. That was your chance; you blew it. Responsibility is a great thing. Freedoms carry the responsibility to a vast unseen majority. They can not be used personally. Anyone who thinks that freedom is the license for any action or remark should think twice. If someone in the student body has the will to write about this situation in another paper, there is hope.

As the year progressed the co-editors, Bruce Cobb and Larry Staines have tried to use new techniques in making the paper more attractive to the reader as well as to increase the relevance of content. A newspaper can be a benefit to the school and community as well as provide meaningful thought to all men. Our Latest can be a credit to E.A.H.S. and will continue to be in the future as it tries to uphold its torch of excellence.

In the near future, the pace in 209 becomes nearly frantic. By the end of next month the entire yearbook, in the rough, will be in the hands of the Intercollegiate press in Kansas City, Missouri. Editor Faith Briggs and her competent staff have devoted a fantastic amount of time to the production of this year's volume. The busy hum of yearbook workers penetrated the air in 205 as the book was put to press. Contrary to popular opinion, our annual Auroran does not materialize out of thin air each June. Months of work and careful planning preceded the dramatic moment at the Seniors' Spring Assembly when Editor, Faith Briggs presented the culmination of one year's effort to Mr. David Daniels.

By the end of February, as the pace in 205 grew almost frantic, pages were sent to the Inter-collegiate Press in Kansas City by the score. Faith and her staff—Martha Dwyer, and Karen Kell—Assistant Editors, Christie Manchester—Copy editor, Bev Sand—Art Editor, Betsey Mosser—Business Editor, and Ellie Fuchs—Treasurer,—devoted fantastic amounts of time to the production of this volume. Several new projects were innovated by this year's Student Council under the leadership of President Bruce Krysiak. At Homecoming, the Student Council sponsored the Havelock Bagpipers from Canada, who performed in the parade, at halftime, and before the dance. This year a new format was used for the Variety Show. The gym floor was arranged like a night club with tables which cost a dollar to reserve. Food was served to those who were seated on the floor. A project was also formed to aid the needy people in Appalachia. Instead of sending money, a used clothing drive was held, after which the clothes were shipped to Appalachia. With these and many other undertakings, the Student Council had a very productive year.

Junior High Holds Slave Sale

The Junior High Student Council has carried out many interesting projects this year. A new Dance Constitution was drawn up which states the methods of organization and planning of dances. This will help the Student Council to plan dances more quickly and easily.

The Student Council held a "Slave Day" early in the Fall. The Junior High students could buy "slaves" for one day. This project was very successful and was enjoyed by everyone.

Many Junior High athletes win trophies every year. The trophies have always been placed in the Senior High case, but this year the Council has provided a case especially for the Junior High. It was placed in the corridor outside the West Gym and proudly displays the athletic prizes.

This year the traditional student exchanges with other schools have been carried out. These exchanges are valuable in helping our students to learn about other school systems.

The officers and members of the Student Council deserve credit for their great effort and hard work!

Honor Students Engage in Tutoring Program.

The Junior and Senior National Honor Societies consist of students who have distinguished themselves in the areas of leadership, service, scholarship, and citizenship. Members believe that the organizations' chief aim is to serve the school and the rest of the student body. As a result, they are continuing the tutoring program started last year for students in need of help in their studies. In addition, they try to sponsor educational and cultural programs which would be of interest to the entire student body. Mr. Petrusky, as advisor of the Junior National Honor Society, and Mrs. Austin, as advisor to the Senior National Honor Society, have been striving to make these organizations truly of service to the entire school.

The A.F.S. Club had a successful year under the leadership of Christie Manchester, the club's president. The club raised money selling Christmas note paper in November, selling pop and candy at basketball games, and sponsoring "Tag Day." As a new activity the club initiated "A.F.S. Week" in February. An assembly was held with each of the A.F.S.ers speaking about their respective countries. The week was highlighted by a victory dance sponsored by the A.F.S. Club held on Friday night after the basketball game. A.F.S. Club members, Mary Rose Edwards, who went to Japan in February, and Candy Person were chosen as East Aurora's Americans Abroad finalists from our school, while Hans Jurgen Waldow and Stephne Roche visited us from Germany and South Africa respectively.

Boss Tweed Rides Again

Larry conducts his re-election.

Under the superb leadership of Larry Stains, C.A.C. proved to be one of the most popular and exciting clubs at EAHS. Besides the annual Christmas party, and closing Boss Tweed (a progressive dinner affair in solemn honor of the leader Boss Tweed), C.A.C. members attended the Mock Republican Convention at Hamburg High School in May. In addition, they listened to guest speakers discussing such timely issues as the Draft, patriotism, and present-day pressures. But perhaps the biggest activity of the club was preparing for the Model United Nations. This year E.A. represented the U.S.S.R.

Much is to be said for the great efforts displayed by the President, the Vice-President, Nan Bell, and the treasurer, Karen Kell, who were instrumental in making the Contemporary Affairs Club stimulating and thought provoking.

As always, Miss Glass and Miss McNaboe had their hands full this year with the zealous senior high history students who comprise the Garcians. The major project of the year was aimed at relieving some of the misery in South Vietnam. Members collected usable summer clothing, soap and other items to make the life of those in their "sister village" a little less agonizing. In addition, the Garcians participated in the celebration of East Aurora's Sesquicentennial by preparing a float for the parade. They planned the bus trip to Washington in May, climaxing a year of work and fun.

The Junior Roycrofters had another busy year. Under the guidance of Mrs. Thomason, the eighth and ninth graders prepared a slide program of their trip to Boston, Salem, and Marblehead in 1967. This was presented to the Junior High to illustrate the relation between Boston and our nation's history to seventh and eighth graders. In keeping with East Aurora's Sesquicentennial, the Roycrofters showed a selection of skits depicting life here through the years. They wrote, directed, and produced the skits themselves. This year, the Roycrofters took a bus trip to Shelburne Museum Village in Vermont, also visiting Steam Valley, where they discovered the joys of an old time railroad.

Junior High Discovers World of Form and Color

The Junior High Art Club had a busy year under the guidance of Mrs. Billington. In March, members made a field trip into the Albright-Knox Art Gallery to see the Buffalo Festival of Arts. In addition to building up their cultural appreciation at professional shows, the members planned their own showing of original work in the spring. Each Art Club member was required to perform at least one service for the school. These included posters publicizing school events, building stage sets for the Variety Show, and helping with props for the Spring Play.

Students Develop Individual Styles

The Senior High Art Club was started last year by students who were interested in pursuing art as an extracurricular activity. Among the projects undertaken this year were making Christmas decorations for the school and making posters to announce various school activities. In addition, members are also expected to pursue their special interests in the field of art, whether it be painting, sculpture, or photography. In this way they can develop their skills in a particular field.

Moviemakers of Tomorrow

The audio-visual unit of East Aurora High School (otherwise known as A.V.E.) turns out projectionists and sound adjustors every year. Mr. Burdick and his projectionists strive to make learning fun through such films as "Open Heart Surgery" and "Mechanized Death." Dances come alive when Mr. Birdsall's sound crew is manning the mikes. And where would the excitement of a Variety Show be without pulsating rhythms and delicate balance?

The pits are blazing for the Kiwanis Chicken Barbeque. The giant, chicken-filled grates are being turned and the smell of chicken is carried through Spring breezes. But who are those boys selling soda pop? Closer inspection reveals Key Club members diligently working for the service of the community.

This year's Key Club is composed mostly of senior boys and has a fine tradition in being sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. It is a non-profit organization and is in good standing with the Key Club International.

School data is busily typed up and other business attended to by the student stenographers of East Aurora High. Under Mrs. Parker's excellent direction, these girls gain knowledge of the business world as well as an opportunity to use their skills. Most of the student stenographers are business majors. In future years they will probably all be private secretaries to the big executives and the rest of us can say, "We knew her when . . ."

Helpful Students Relieve Librarians' Load

Who straightens the shelves each night and protects them from probing fingers during the day? One's first impulse is to say Mrs. Hoover and Miss Phelps, but the job is too large for them to do alone! Many student librarians join the Library Club to make the task easier. They usually stamp books, write the everpresent overdue slips, count noses, and perform numerous helpful tasks. They take great pride in showing that their generation was designed to help others.

Students Brighten Soldiers' Lives

The Red Cross holds an important position in our school. Its members represent a portion of the school body who willingly give up their time for the service of others.

This year, as in previous ones, the Red Cross sponsored the distribution of Christmas baskets to the less fortunate members of the community. In addition the club initiated a new project; the sending of recorded Christmas messages to Viet Nam soldiers from their families.

Future Nurses Aid Retarded Children

F.N.A., the Future Nurses of America Club, is as exactly as its name implies; it helps girls interested in nursing decide more specifically which branch of this field they would want to pursue. During the year, the club has sponsored speakers, among them nurses from various fields. These speakers have further helped the members to decide on a career.

As a service project, the girls sewed bibs to send to St. Rita's, a home for retarded children. Previously the club had visited this home. Most certainly the F.N.A. is a well appreciated service club.

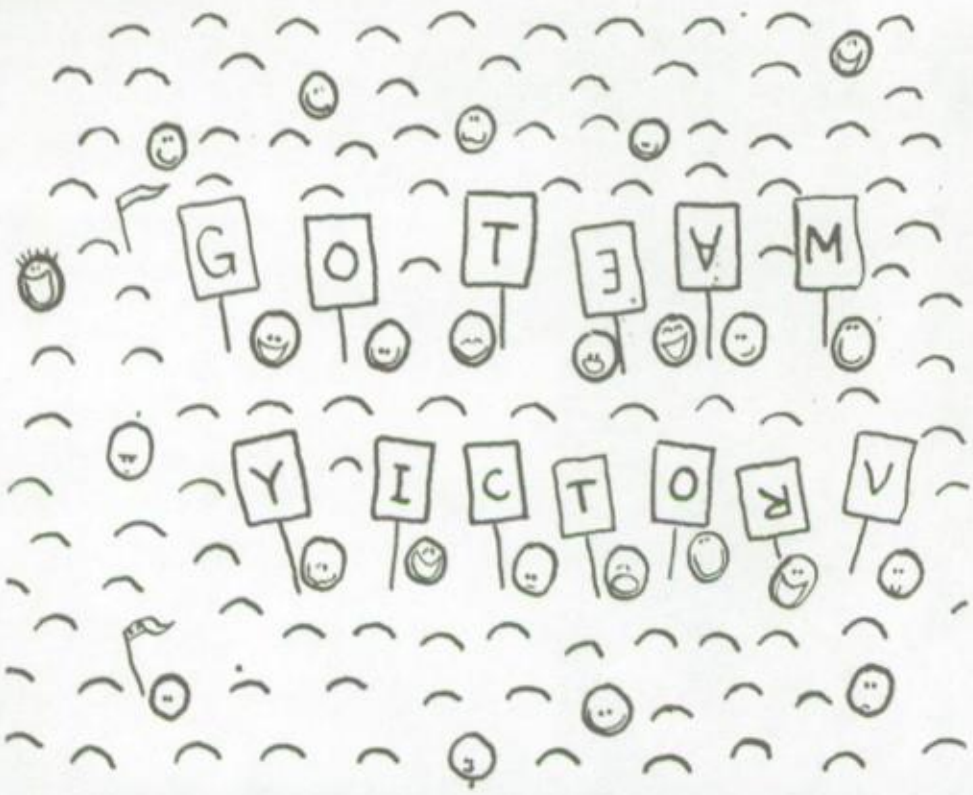
Senior High Girls Shout Our Teams to Victory



One may wonder who those "obnoxious" kids at the games are, whose voice boxes seem to have no limit, whose vitality is unquenchable, and whose optimism never gives out, whether the game is won or lost. Under the inspiring guidance of Mr. Clack, these students comprise the Pep Club and are dedicated to supporting wholeheartedly all East Aurora sports activities.

This year the Pep Club elected Ceci Laidman, the originator of the club, as their president. They chose as their project the creation of a large blue devil, made of papier mache and wire, to take with them to the games.

High Octaves of Success

The harmonious and melodic tones of the Senior Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Sollinger, performed on such occasions as the annual Christmas Concert and Christmas Assembly. Later in the year, once again the East Aurora and Iroquois orchestras performed a joint concert. The Senior Orchestra also played in the Spring Concert and the N.Y.S.M.A.'s Spring Festival in which individual soloists and ensembles participated.

Pieces the orchestra performed this year included "Farndole", "The March of Kings" from "L'arlesienne Suite" by Bizet, and "Concerto Grosso" by Valdi.

The Senior Orchestra's officers were: President—Beth Barten, Vice-President—Larry Stains, and Secretary-Treasurer—Nancy Gerken.

The members of the Junior Orchestra are musicians who through hard work and practice hope some day to become members of the Senior Orchestra. They displayed their promising talent at such events as the Christmas Concert where they performed two hymns for Christmas and a folk song, "Tomorrow Will be Christmas." Later in the year they had an exchange program with Orchard Park. Their season ended at the Spring Concert where they presented "Tallis Canon" by Canon and March, and Jurey's "C Major."

And the Band Played On

One of East Aurora's finest organizations is the Senior High band. These are the students who give up their Saturday afternoons to help boost the school spirit at the football games. The band also performs at the various concerts and assemblies during the year. Under the excellent guidance of Mr. Gange, they are blooming into a very fine group that East Aurora can certainly be proud of.

The Junior High band under the direction of Mr. Minkler is slowly climbing the ladder of success. Many students had never played a musical instrument before they entered the Junior High School, but thanks to the individual music lessons given by the music teachers, the students have become quite proficient at a musical instrument. We are sure that the Junior High band will be a great asset to the Senior High music department.

And the Beat Goes On

Those lilting notes which float gently from the music room every Monday afternoon don't belong to the Beatles, Bach or even the Tijuana Brass. On the contrary they are from the East Aurora Dance Combo Band that is heard practicing every week.

Under the guidance and supervision of Mr. Gange the band has provided enjoyable entertainment throughout the year. It has played at school assemblies, as well as the Senior High Christmas party among other engagements.

Music Floats Through E.A.'s Halls

At any time during the day, music can be heard floating down the corridors outside room 208. The sources of this music are the four East Aurora High School Choirs who have been very active under their new director, Mr. Hasselback.

The Senior Choir participated in the annual variety show, which proved to be a very interesting and unique project. The Ninth and Tenth grade chorus sang in the Veteran's Day Assembly, and also joined the Senior Choir in presenting a Senior High School Christmas concert.

The Eighth grade chorus sang in the Junior High Veteran's Day Assembly, and presented a concert combined with the Junior band. The Seventh and Eighth grade choruses presented the Junior High Christmas concert. We can all be proud that we have such active choruses, for they are an asset to our school.

Madrigals Make Mellifluous Music

Madrigals is a singing group divided into sections, each of which has a different melody. Easter and Christmas songs were presented by the Junior Madrigals for the holiday concerts. The group also arranged and sang folk songs which added variety to the traditional madrigal songs.

Who Blew the Fuse?

Aiding the Madrigals are the members of E.A.'s Sound Crew, who operate the P.A. system which makes the concerts a pleasure to the ear. In addition, it is the Sound Crew that provides amplification for the Variety Show, the music at many of the dances, commencement, and all the assemblies and evening programs throughout the year. Many thanks are to be given to the Sound Crew for so adequately fulfilling their extensive duties.

The Debate Club under the guidance of Mrs. Thomason is making a promising start. Like every new organization, however, it is being faced with many difficulties, foremost among which is small membership. To acquaint the student body with formal debating and to increase interest in its activities the club invited members of the Canisius College debate team to an assembly last fall. In addition, some members went to see a formal debate held at Villa Maria. The club hopes that by next year it will be able to train a team capable of taking part in inter-high school debating.

Amid the depths of E.A.H.S.' cellar is located a tiny cubicle marked:

Seismology Laboratory
Authorized Personnel Only
Dr. Alexis Smogra
Room 16

Students Appease Seismos

Inside (hopefully) ticking away is $2500.00 myriad of super-sensitive equipment for the detection of seismic waves , donated to the school by Mr. Larkin of the Larkin Co.

The Seismology club members worked frantically for the first half of the year to get the lab into working condition. It was put into operation on Saturday, February 24, 1968, and two days later recorded an earthquake from the Yangtze Valley in Communist China. The lab is now in operation six days a week, with the members at work constantly making adjustments and fixing the ever-failing equipment.

Any very interested scientist will be considered for membership, which also entails certain mystic rites such as homage to the god Seimos, and the secret paper ritual.

Each year four juniors, four seniors, and their alternates travel to Syracuse to take part in the Syracuse Citizenship Conference. Juniors are selected by the Social Studies department and screened by the faculty. The four students who are most exemplary citizens are chosen. They then take a 2½ hour exam based on current events and history. These scores are sent to the conference.

The conference selects a theme for discussion, that is divided into three parts. Last year the participants made speeches on Johnson's Great Society at the first session, followed by a debate on the usefulness of political parties in the second, and the third session was a discussion of the Danny Escobedo case concerning a Supreme Court ruling on informing the accused of his rights when arrested. At the end of the day the students are given an index number based on the test score, citizenship activities in school and the community, school grades, and faculty recommendations. The delegates rated each other and this was combined with the index number to form a final rating. Scholarships were supplied by the Sears Roebuck Foundation. Bruce Cobb, last year, won a full tuition scholarship to Syracuse University.

Diplomats Travel to U.N.

Cheryl Aungst, Wende Arndt, Wende Persons, Gary Hager.

For Wende Persons and Gary Hager a dream came true. By writing a winning essay on the value of the United Nations in today's world, they were chosen for a two day all expense paid trip to the United Nations, courtesy of the Aurora Peace Workshop. Wende Arndt and Cheryl Aungst were chosen as alternates. For the sixth year, Mr. Klaus acted as chaperone.

Wende and Gary visited many points of international interest. Among them were the Japanese, Thailand, Russian, and U. S. Missions. They saw the Broadway musical "Fiddler On The Roof," visited Rockefeller Center, and went on a shopping spree on Fifth Avenue.

In return for their trip, Wende and Gary were asked to speak at the Aurora Peace Workshop and several classes in school. Needless to say, both agree that it was an enlightning and enjoyable trip.

Cartwheelers Capture Trophies

The next time you see an E.A. girl doing handsprings down the hall on her way to class, don't stare—she is undoubtedly a member of the Gymnastics Club. Initiated four years ago with the arrival of East Aurora gym teacher Mrs. Amwake, the club traditionally meets every Monday and Friday, and is composed of girls who want to better themselves in gymnastics.

The girls work on four events—uneven parallel bars, horse vaulting, balance beam, and free exercise in which emphasis is placed on grace, not strength.

During the summer, Laurie Elder, Lorie Amwake, Connie Newton, and Kathy Amwake competed in the Niagara County Junior Olympics. They cartwheeled back to East Aurora with Lorie and Kathy as champions, and Laurie and Connie each second—capturing a total of 13 out of 16 trophies!

Lorie Amwake also competed in the southern New York State meet and won. She went on to the Quad-State and placed fourth all-around.

Future meets in which the team will compete are the Regional Junior Nationals in Connecticut and the Final Junior Olympics in Texas.

Cheerleaders Spark Enthusiasm

"We're from E.A. and no one could be prouder"—E.A.'s avid sports fans hear this and many other cheers at the sports events throughout the active school year. Thanks to the superb effort of our cheerleaders, who have vigorously supported our teams, school spirit has hit a high point this year. Due to the tremendous support from the cheerleaders, our teams have maintained the high ideals of spirit and sportmanship—"and if you can not hear us, we'll yell a little louder!"

Success Amid Defeat

The "won-lost" record is not the only measure of a successful season, nor the judge of our team. Severely hampered by injuries, the Blue Devils still played good football in every game- in fact they won the second half of most. They were often an exciting team and they hung together through every frustration. They never gave up- nobody walked over them and each opponent found that "they came to play football." Win or lose- Blue Devils we are proud of you!

Well Done!

Coach Bowen and Captains Bruce Krysiak and Dennis Sawicki lead their 67-68 Varsity Basketball team to victory. This year's team was of extremely high potential, and was perhaps the best East Aurora has ever had. In addition seven out of the present twelve members will return next year hopefully as lettermen. This year's goal is Divisional championship and a good score in the sectionals. Sixteen League games, the traditional Christmas tournament at Maryvale and the Sectionals are among the games scheduled for the season. Through the season the boys displayed inspiring teamship which is certainly a credit to E.A.

In the words of a Bomber, "The team this year had a lot of depth." Tad Taylor and Don Cotton led the team in a very successful year. A school record of 3:39.0 was set by the free style relay team of Assad, Marquart, Taylor, and Lawson. The team will lose several seniors next year, but the strong nucleus of sophomores and juniors should provide a good team.

On Your Mark, Get Set, Go!!

East Aurora's 1967 track team enjoyed a successful season winning four meets and losing three. Three new school records were set by outstanding members of the team. Bruce Marquart set a new 880 mark and Ed Ammons set a new record (of 21.5 seconds) for the 180 low hurdles. The 880 relay team, Bruce Cobb, Allan Dechert, Mark Norton, and Ray Becker, broke the third oldest existing record in the school. They broke the 1939 record of 1:36.2 by running the relay in 1:35.1. The team placed 8th out of 20 teams in the ECIC's held at Buffalo State. With many of last year's lettermen returning, we should enjoy an even better season this year.

Up, up and away!

E.A. Footwork Grows More Adept.

The East Aurora High School soccer team has been active for the past two years, and continues to show marked improvement. Through the guidance of Mr. Austin, the coach and the fighting efforts of the goalies, the team had a fairly good season. Although the team didn't win any of their games, they tied four and lost ten, which isn't bad, considering that they met such formidable opponents as O.P. But, keep your eye on soccer, this young sport at E.A.H.S. may prove in the future to be one of the biggest and most popular in school.

Over Hill, Over Dale

After a bad start this season, the E.A. Harriers steadily improved and wound up the season with a record of six wins and eight losses. E.A. finished fifth in the Division II ECIC's at Chestnut Ridge. Pacing E.A.'s squad this year were sophomore Greg Finch, senior Larry Clark, and freshman Rennie Selkirk. Finch captured fourth place among the Division II runners and was named to the All-Star team. With such promising young runners, E.A.'s Cross Country is bound to be one of the top ECIC teams in the near future.

And they're off!

E.A. Golfers Swing Through Spring.

This year the East Aurora golfers closed the season with five wins and seven losses. Consistent winners for East Aurora were Doug Bartlett, Dave Heussler, Jeff Pallin, Steve Ebsary, Mark O'Donnell, and Bill Edwards. With most of these golfers returning next year, E.A. hopes to have an even better season in 1968, under the guidance of Coach Birdsall.

Grab 'em Grapplers!

The Grapplers were endowed with the "tiger-like" David's, in the form of Mr. David Daniels and Mr. David Schnurr, as coaches this year. Forty wrestlers, including the three amazing seniors: Roy Smith, Ken Ames, and Larry Horschel, made up the team. E.A. beat O.P. and Alden, but lost to Orchard Park and Clarence. The weight classes range from 95 to 170 pounds. A wrestler must be aggressive and team-minded, as well as in top physical condition. The coaches feel they have the caliber for a winning season, and with more student support, E.A. Grapplers could wrestle to victory.

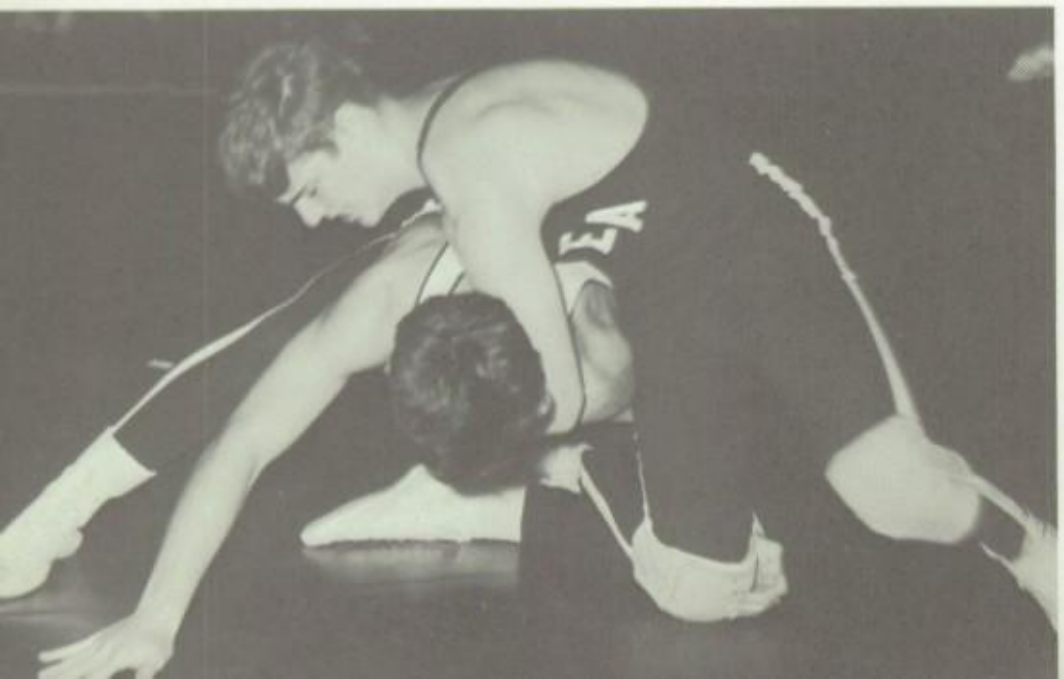
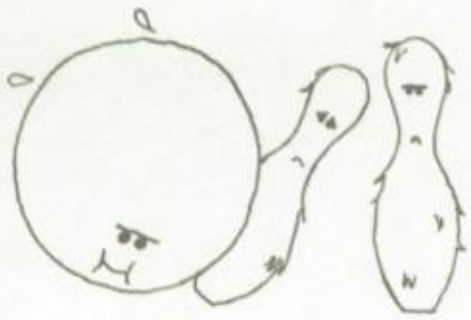
"I'd give you the shirt off my back, Mike but . . ."



How does that grab you?



"I like nice round figures—0 0 0."

Bowler's Season Framed by Strikes and Spares

Row 1: Tim Shaw, Joe Myers, Bill Careton, Dave Manchester, Bruce Meade. Row 2: Denny Eckstrom, Bob Greene, Bill McClure, Fred Maefs, Don Latt, Randy Zittle.

Mr. Bove, East Aurora's new bowling coach, assured the team of strike after strike. Fourteen bowlers composed the winning team. Noted bowlers were Don Latt, Bruce Meade, Randy Zittle, and Pete Gleed. The practices and home matches were held at the Aurora Lanes.

In a match all the boys are played on either the A or B team. During competition the coach may shift his bowlers to find the winning combination. This way there is no set way to predict which team a boy may be on, adding an element of surprise to the game. Some B team boys have been "bowled over" to find themselves with a winning A!

Batter Up!

The 1967 Junior Varsity Baseball team, finishing the season with a 2-8 record, defeated John F. Kennedy and Cheektowaga. The team was lead by the hitting of Paul Gressman, Andy Cline, Rick Schomblom, and George Breauhaus. Breauhaus also pitched both victories. The team was well coached by Mr. Rozanski and showed promise for the future.

With only three returning lettermen, the 1967 Varsity Baseball team suffered through a 1-9 season. However, in its role as spoiler, the team came up with a great victory behind the superb pitching of sophomore, John Gregory, over previously undefeated John F. Kennedy. The team was led in hitting by John Arlotta, Terry Belz, Charlie Donner, and Bruce Krisiak. The team was coached by Mr. Drescher. Because very little was lost through graduation E.A. could be in for a good year.

Love, Sets, and Games Capture Players' Hearts

In his first year of coaching, Mr. Shindler feels that the tennis team did rather well. Despite the badweather during the month of May cancelling many practices, the team won six of the ten matches played. The best win records were held by ace players, Jack Richard, Larry Davis, and Paul Nicely. Seasoned sophomores, John Laing, and Steve Slosson will be the returning lettermen to help bring next year's team to victory.

'69 Moves to the Top

This year, with Mr. Klaus as advisor, the class of '69 had an extremely successful year. A victory dance was held during the fall at which the Nefarious Prodigies performed. The Sadie Hawkins dance, also sponsored by the class, was a great success. The sale of wrapping paper and crew shirts were the money-making projects held by the class, and the annual ring sale was also held. In the spring the Junior Prom was held, which was a great success as were the other events during the year. With these undertakings behind them, the members of the class of '69 can anticipate an extremely successful senior year.

'70 Employs New Money-Making Idea

The Class of 1970, under the guidance of Mr. McBride had a very successful year. Dues of $1.00 were collected from the class members. In December a dance was held featuring two great groups, "The Plague" and "Those Boys." It was a smashing success. A money-making project was held by the class. They sold ads to E.A. merchants for blotters which the class had printed for them. At the rate they are going, the class of '70 will certainly have two more years as successful as this.

Frosh Foster Student Service

The class of '71, advised by Mrs. Tully, and Mr. Splain, has had an active year. They started the Student Service Corps, a project in which students help teachers after school with such things as checking papers, running errands, and straightening rooms. Besides sponsoring two Junior High dances, the class initiated a series of dances at the Boy's Club just for freshmen. We are sure that the class of '71 will become a great asset to the senior high.

'72 Will Carry on Tradition

The eighth grade class this year was under the expert guidance of Mrs. Doyle and Mr. Gallup. The class sponsored many class dances which were "smashes." At these dances, music, refreshments, and fun were to be had by all who went. We are sure that the eighth grade class will sponsor many more successful projects that will live up to E.A.'s fine tradition.

'73 Meets High School Head On

The class of '73 began their first year in high school with the election of an executive board and class officers. Class dues of 50 cents were collected from the members of the class. Under the guidance of their advisor, Mr. Schindler they held a class party in March. Everyone who attended it had a great time. We are lucky to have such a fine group of 7th graders to carry on E.A.H.S. tradition.

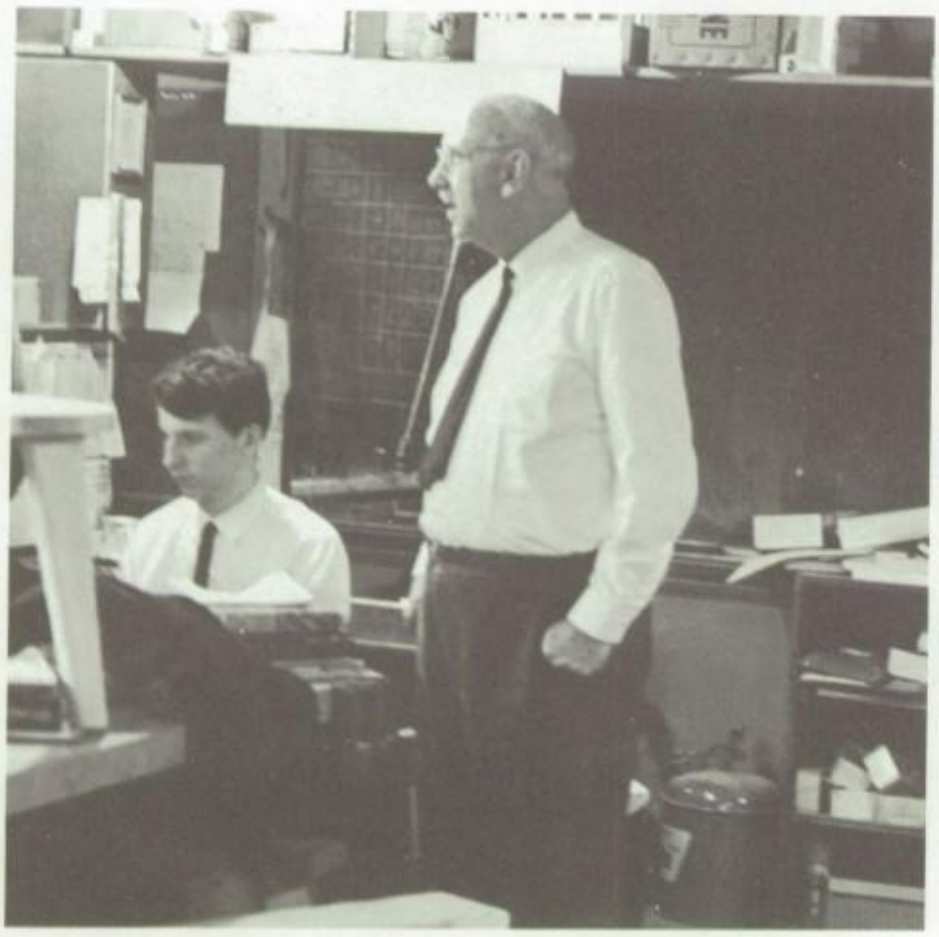
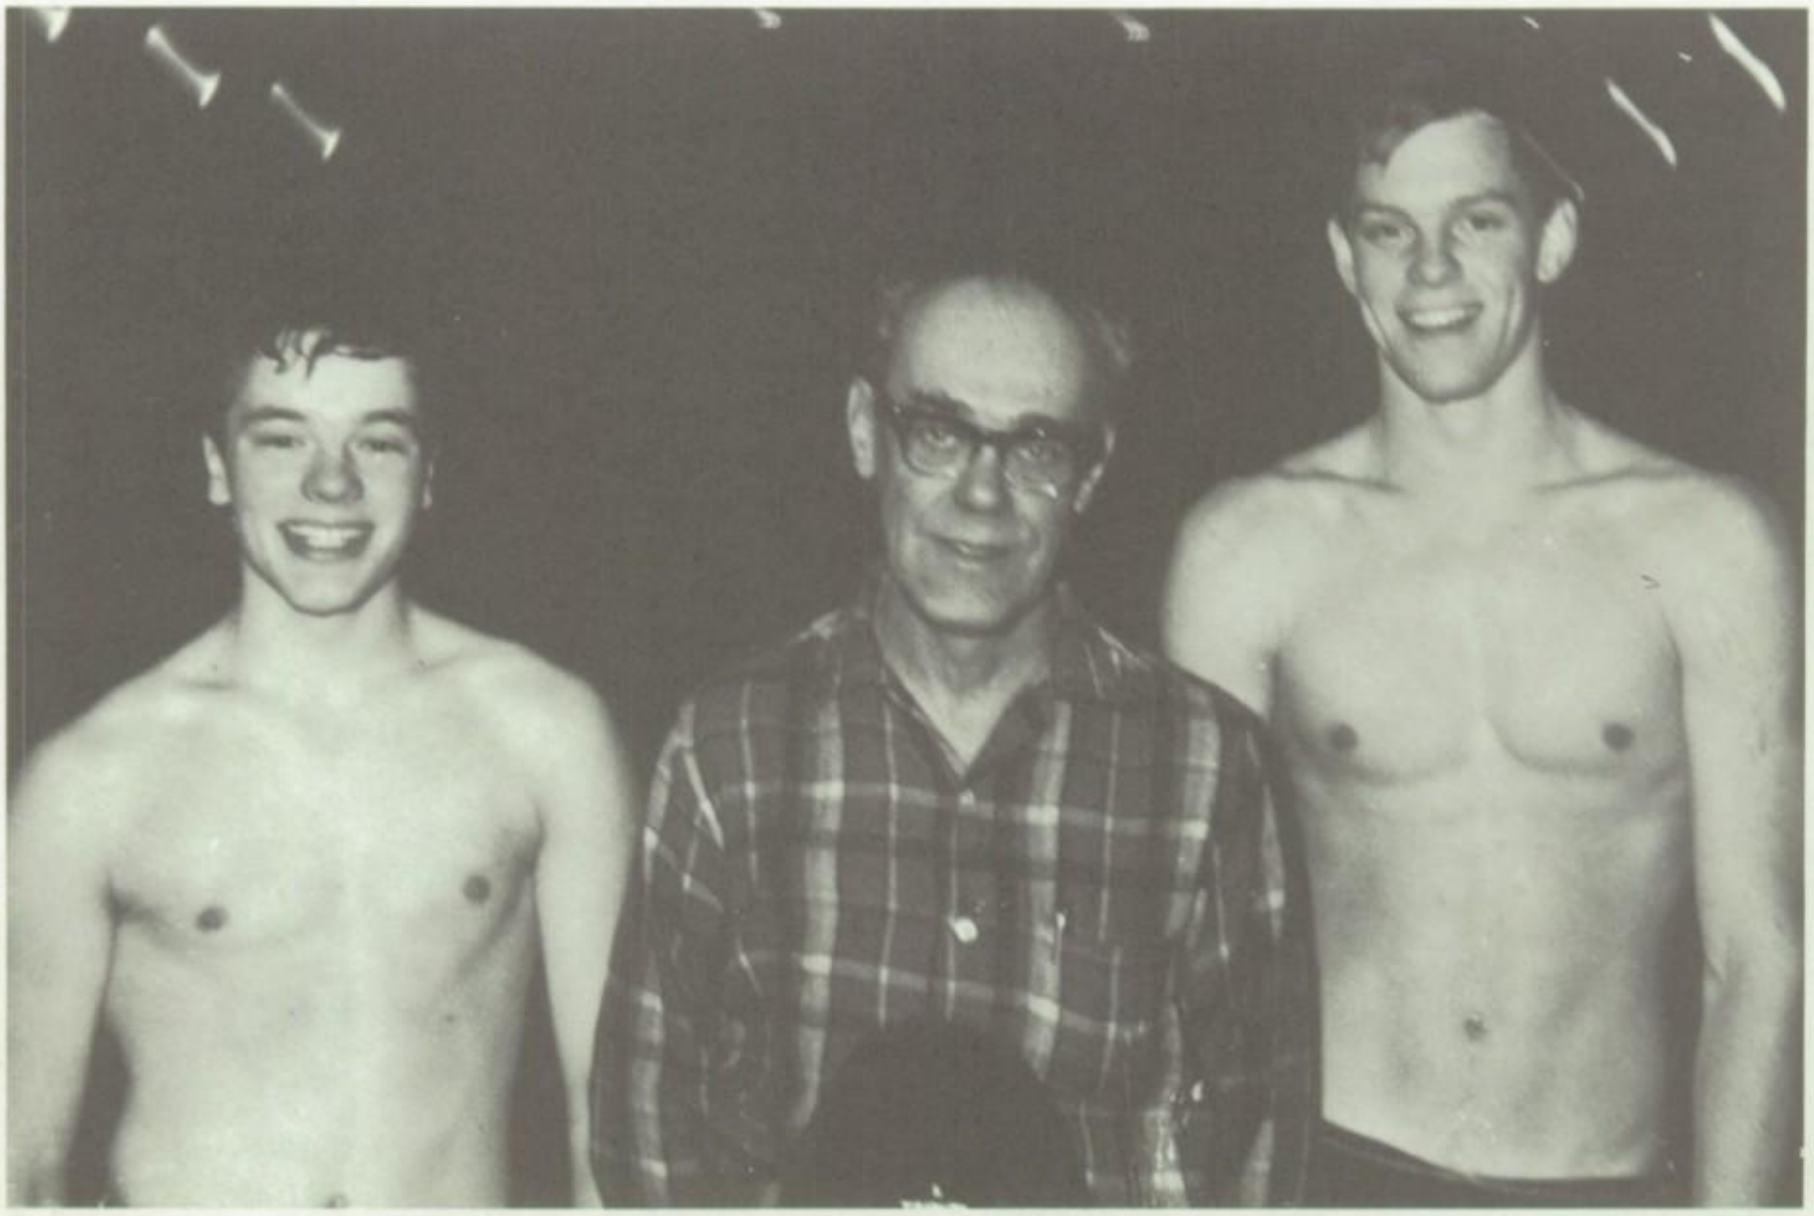
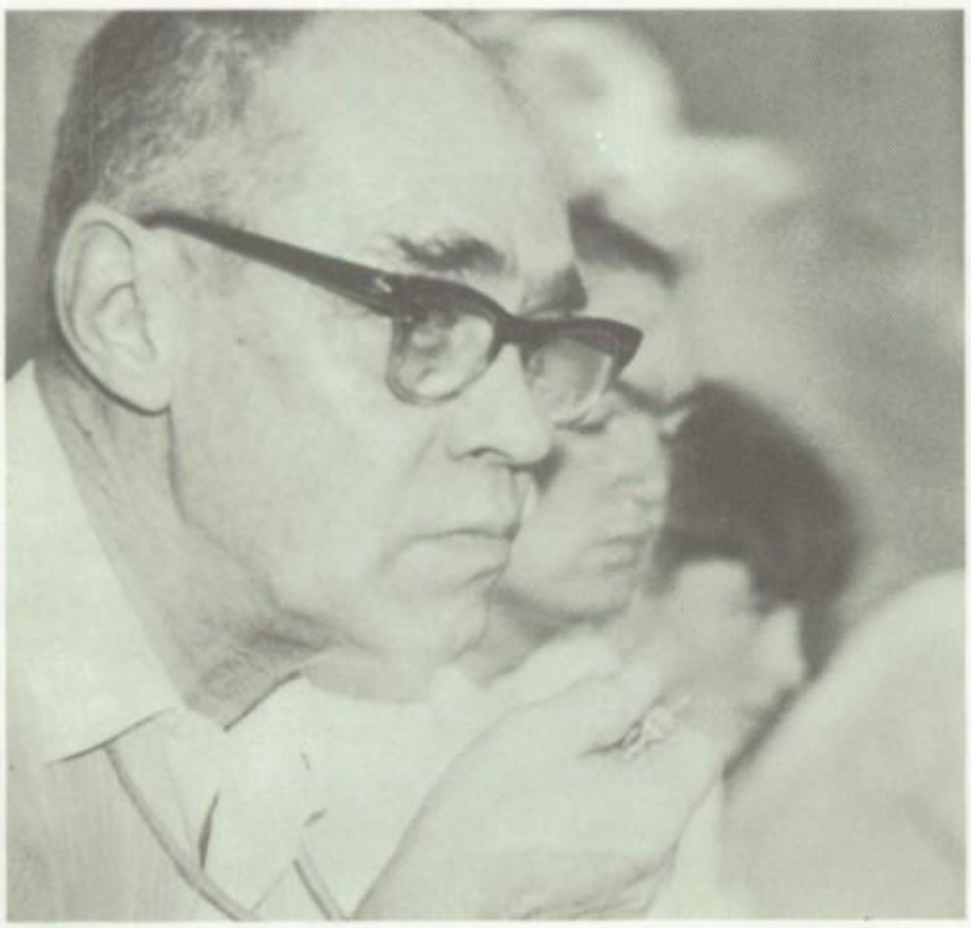
A Face That Will Be Missed in Years to Come



Mr. Arthur Harbison has devoted many years to teaching the skills of Industrial Arts. A graduate of Buffalo State Teachers College, he taught at three other New York schools before joining the faculty of East Aurora. Mr. Harbison has not spent all his time within the confines of East Aurora High School, however. A home-made house trailer is evidence of his time devoted to a demanding hobby. Other interests include photography and camping. Mr. Harbison's creative ability was demonstrated by a device he invented for servicing trailers. It checks the all-around performance of the wiring system. For his accomplishment there was an article in Mobil Homes Merchandiser of March 1961. Both the faculty and the students of East Aurora High School extend their sincere appreciation to a devoted teacher.



The Bombers' Greatest Loss



How does a swimming team capture 147 victories, and only 35 defeats as well as 10 consecutive ECIC Division II championships and four Section VI Class AA titles in the span of 13 years? The answer is coach Jack Fisher. Since 1955 when Mr. Fisher came to East Aurora, swimming has reached all age groups. He has established family, junior high and Aquatic Club swimming programs. In addition Coach Fisher was instrumental in developing four promising swimmers; Bob Ahlgren, Tim Meyer, Bruce Marquart and Lance Crawford. Probably the highlight of his career came in 1965-66 when the 200 medley relay team of Bruce Marquart, Tim Meyer, Don Albrecht, and Tim Moore erased the state record with 1:43.9. This placed the relay team 20th best in the nation and granted them honorable mention on the High School All-American team.

What makes Coach Fisher such a great coach? In asking some team members they couldn't answer. Coach Fisher seems to possess that rare quality that can't be expressed in words but makes his team treat him like a father. It is with deep regret that Coach Fisher is leaving.

Mr. Hoover Retires After Many Years of Service

Service is a matter of dedication. In education, sports, and civic service, Mr. Hoover has certainly fulfilled the qualifications for dedication. A graduate of Kalamazoo College, Mr. Hoover attended Penn State, Genesseo State, and the University of Michigan for graduate work. The culmination of this education has been summed up in 36 years of teaching, 26 of which were spent in East Aurora. Mr. Hoover has taught Physical Education, English, social studies, psychology, and driver education. Mr. Hoover has also served as treasurer of the N.Y. State Teacher's Association.

In sports, Mr. Hoover was actively involved as coach in basketball and football, in Dansville, N.Y. where he taught before coming to E.A. In 1942, Mr. Hoover instituted golf as a regular sport in E.A. and about 15 years later he initiated bowling. Many of his golf and bowling teams went on to win district and state championships. During his career of golf, Mr. Hoover was State Chairman of 1 year and Chairman for Section 6 for 7 years.

In civic service Mr. Hoover has also been active in the Lions Club where he presided as President.

The dedication of Mr. Hoover in education and particularly to boys in the sports world will be long remembered by present and former E.A. students.

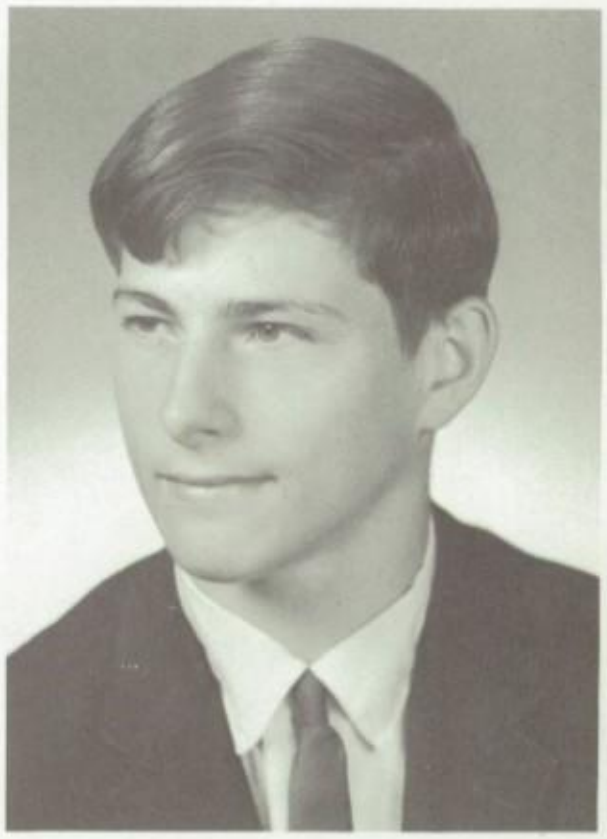
FAITH

Tonight the sun went down,
Slipped down the blue-runged
Ladder of the sky
To the other side of the world.
It smiled on me;
A great, big crimson smile
As if to say:
"God bid you well!"—
And my frail heart would doubt
Saying, "God loves me not; you love me not;"
But sunsets are such gorgeous things,
One cannot help a strange, calm faith
In God, in love, in you!

Dorothy M. Dillion

"Put Up No Monuments to Show, Those I Love Will Surely Know."

This is in memory of James M. Fitzpatrick, known as "Jim" and "Fitz" to his friends. He was young enough to live, yet old enough to die; within the crowd, yet somehow alone; freshly comical, yet often pensive and serious. Few really knew him, but all feel his absence.



James M. Fitzpatrick

Marty,
Wish you had slept out one of the times I did. up around your house.
See you next year.
Good luck on exams and through the summer.
